ART CRITIC WILL SPEAK AT UNIVERSITY MONDAY

Alfred Frankenstein, art and music critic for the San Francisco Chronicle, will speak on "American Art - American Moods" Monday (July 25) at 8:15 p.m. in the University of Montana Recital Hall, according to Dean Charles W. Bolen of the School of Fine Arts.

The speaker teaches history of American art at the University of California and Mills College. He has also taught at Stanford, Harvard and other American universities and at the Free University of Berlin and the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies.

He is a contributing editor of High Fidelity magazine and writes extensively for other periodicals. His latest book, "A Modern Guide to Symphonic Literature," will be released by Appleton-Century this fall.

Frankenstein's free campus lecture is presented, in cooperation with the School of Fine Arts, by the Associated Students of the University as part of their Lecture-Artist series.
